Wear a mask when you're around others, Arizona leaders urge

Wear a mask "in every setting," Dr. Cara Christ is urging Arizonans.

Gov. Doug Ducey echoed the sentiment in a press conference this week with Dr. Christ, the head of Arizona's Department of Health Services. Christ said Arizona's COVID 19 metrics "are heading in the wrong direction" with the Thanksgiving holiday upon us.

People should be masked "any time they will be around other people who do not live in their households," both indoors and outdoors, Christ said.

"I want people to wear masks," Ducey said. "Masks work."

The governor said there are 2 extreme camps on the pandemic. "One side says 'lock everything down.' The other side believes it's a hoax. Both are loud and vocal. Most of the public is not of either camp. Neither am I." A new study from the Centers for Disease Control suggests masks do more than protect those you are with. "They also protect you," he said.

The governor's office announced the provision of $25 million to Arizona hospitals so they can boost and support staffing; and the planned creation of COVID 19 testing sites on premises at Arizona's three major airports, Phoenix Sky Harbor, Tucson International, and Mesa Gateway. Incoming passengers will be "tested immediately, with quick turnaround."

The governor said there is "some hope and a positive light at the end of the tunnel" because of promising developments with vaccine creation. And he acknowledged public weariness with a pandemic that's 8 months long.

"When will it end? That's not on the horizon," Ducey said. "Normal is not in the cards right now."

The programs open up new career path opportunities for students, and businesses can enjoy a new workforce that is specifically trained for their industry. Employers will see reduced turnover, lower training costs and improved productivity while apprentices have the opportunity to earn a paycheck while receiving hands-on training and instruction that result in successful, well-paid and highly respected careers, a release said.

Local agencies – there are 10 fire districts participating,

The community clean-up, organized by Mayor Joe Winfield and the town of Oro Valley, was focused along Oracle Road, extending onto First Avenue as well as Tangerine Road.

Many of the trash-pickers were from church youth groups. They gave 475 hours of total time. Town employees picked up the bagged trash at the end of the morning.
